

Hosting365 boosts broadband service

Hosting365, the country's biggest hosting services provider, yesterday announced new services that will extend broadband reach in Ireland.

Together with Motorola and Azotel, the comprehensive solution will enable wireless internet service providers (WISPs) to deliver regional and metropolitan broadband services.

The solution will allow broadband operators to focus on the commercial side of their business by removing the high-end IT costs and expert knowledge base needed to build, expand and maintain broadband networks, according to John O'Hare, Azotel's managing director.